

BOROUGH OF THROOP QUASQUICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION REPORT

The residents of the Borough of Throop, PA celebrated its quasquicentennial (125 years) as a borough with a celebration on June 29-30, 2019.

This two day event covered a parade, musical bands, various food vendors and quasquicentennial souvenirs, carnival entertainment equipment that provided rides, business donations for raffles, supporting equipment and personnel and advertising to ensure a successful celebration. This event was successful due to a large participation of both Throop residents and people from surrounding communities .

Over these past 125 years the Borough of Throop has become a viable community in its own right and with many industries and is recognized as such in our area of northeastern PA and which is called Mid-Valley.

Along with the support of the Borough of Throop Council, the following Quasquicentennial Committee members participated to ensure the success of this celebration.

Andrew Hegedus, Quasquicentennial Chairman
Richard Kucharski, Council President
Charlene Tomasovitch, Council Member
Bill Shevchik, Civic Center employee
Elizabeth O'Brien, Civic Center employee
Joe Tropiak, Mayor

The following elected officials of northeastern PA issued proclamations, citations, and recognition documents which did provide a history of the success of the Borough of Throop over these past 125 years.

Congressman Matt Cartwright, PA 8th Congressional District
Senator John P. Blake, PA 22nd Senatorial District
Representative Kyle J. Mullins, PA 112th Legislative District
Commissioner Patrick M. O'Malley, Lackawanna County Board of Commissioners
Commissioner Jerry Notaranni
Commissioner Laureen A. Cummings

The Committee thanks the entire Throop community, surrounding communities and elected officials that contributed to the success of the Borough of Throop Quasquicentennial celebration.

Sincerely,

Andrew Hegedus, Quasquicentennial Chairman
